

I am very concerned about the RF interference that Broadband Service Over Powerlines will cause my amateur radio station. I am active in the Army MARS program and also getting involved in the Amateur Radio Emergency Service program. Most of my operating is regional in support of these programs via HF radio. If the FCC allows broadband service in my area, it will severely curtail my ability to serve the public good via the emergency communications services I can offer my community and nation. I urge the commission to deny this request for the good of all users of the HF spectrum.
